WHEELING, W. VA., JANUARY 3, 1888,

the Fire Stak of Natural Gas, The Insurance Chronicle, a publication for which we have greatrespect, remarks that it "has taken pains to print from time to time in the past few months, such ordinary reports of fires and explosions caused by natural gas as have come under our

As snother case of the same kind the Chronicle quotes a dispatch from Millerstown, Pa., giving an account in high colors of the recent escape of that town from serious dieaster. The people of Millerstown want to bed with their natural gas fires burning. In the night the ball on the safety walve of the gazometer in some way go off, and then the trouble began.

With this as a text the Chronicle con cludes that "carelessness causes many fices, and carelessness and natural gas make an usually dangerous combination. This is quite true, and the users of natural gas will do well to bear it over in mind But we think of some other things which in connection with carelecaness make an extremely dangerous combination; for example, coal, korosene, eteam, artificial gas. gunpowder, dynamite. We have seen carelessness and a banana peel work wonders. A playful cow kicked over a kerosens lamp and destroyed a great city. Only last week an explosion of naptha in Rochester, New York, killed and wounded saveral persons, destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property and threatened the whole city. In New York city, on the last day of the year, the exhaust pumps of the Equitable Gas Works exploded with terrific effect, killing one man and doing a deal of damage gen-

Seeing that natural gas was brought into extensive use while very little was known about it; considering that the early notion was that any kind of piping was good enough for natural gas and any sort of handling safe, the serious accidents have been few and the fire losses remarkably small. Whatever the theory may be this is the fact.

A Suggestion to Congress.

In the cleven months ending with No. vember of last year we bought of foreign countries $14,665,000 more than we sold to them. If we count gold and silver in the reckoning the balance against us for the eleven months, as shown by the Bureau of Statistics, was $40,348,000. The trading for the whole year will make a better showing, for the December exports will exceed the imports.

The Financial Chronicle, discussing the financial situation, says we must allow "the usual $10,000,000 a month against us for undervaluations, freights, etc," in view of which "we cannot estimate the year's operations as indicating less than $140,-000,000 transferred in securities." And this means that this enormous amount of money, greater than the much-talked of Tressury surplus, is gone from us and can not be recovered except by buying it back with an equivalent. The suggestion to Congress is in the items "undervaluations, freights, &c." Every case of undervaluations, irrigate, &c.

Every case of undervaluation is in direct violation of an act of Congress. It not only robs American industry of part of the protection which Congress declared it should have, but it robs the Treagury of the United States for the benefit of the importing interest, largely a foreign inter-dien in the outside of the chimney of the old-fashioned log cabin, as represented in the importing interest, largely a foreign inter-dien in the outside of the animal of the importance of the importa preferred a foreign flag to the flag of the United States.

Congress might well begin the new year by insisting that its acts shall be respected. This it might follow up by taking an extra turn on undervalued imports and by trying its hand at the revival of our shipping interests.

Longevity of Great Men.

The large number of living great men who have passed the ordinary limit of age is connidered astonishing by the London Daily News, which gives these figures: The German Emperor is 90; Dr. Dollinger is 88; Moltke and Bancrott, the historian, are each 87; Koesuth is 85 and Professor Owen is 83; the Popo is 77 and King William, of the Netherlands, is well on in his 71st year. Of statemen, Mr. Gladatone is 72; M. Jules Grery is 74; M. Leon Say and M. Lercyer are each 71; Lord Selborne is 74 and Lord Granville is 72. Of Generals, McMahon is 79; Leboent is 78 and Bassine and Claidini are each 76. Of poets, Lord Tennyson is 76; Mr. Browning is 75 and Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes is 78. Of musicisus, Verdi is 73. Of emgineers, Lord Arwistong is 77 and Sir John Hawkshawis 76. Of painters, Melasonier is 72; and finally, of showmen, Barnum is 77.

The Class in Scriptures. The Class in Scriptures.

The class in Scriptures.

The lady saked one of the children in her Sunday school class: "What was the sin of the Pharisecs?" "Eating camels, ma'sm," was the reply. The little girl had read tust the Pharisecs "strained at gnais and swallowed camels." "In what condition was the patriarch Job at the end of his life?" questioned a teacher of the stolid-locking boy at the foot of the class. "Dead," was the quiet response. "What is the outward and visible sign of baptism?" asked a lady of her Sunday school class. There was a silence for some seconds, and then a girl broke in triumphantly with: "The baby, please, ma'am,

Congress can-if it will, do a great deal o keep at home part of the money paid for freight. This can be done by proper aid to American steamship lines. If we gag on the word subsidy, and are too virtuous to follow the policy which Grant Britain has pursued whenever and as long as it was necessary, there is room to accomplieh a good deal in the way of sea postage to American steamships. Congress has done a little in this way, but President Cleveland's Postmaster-General took the liberty to disobey Congress and preferred a foreign flag to the flag of the

"How do you occupy your time at the school?" he asked.

"Well, we learn to walk like drunkards, we learn to make love and practice the Abbot kies, we cultivate the Delearte term of standing and posing, entering and leaving a room. Oh, we do lots of queer thines."

What else do you do?"

"What else do you do?"

"Why, we callivate our voice; we take off our corsets and dresses, and lie on our backs on the floor, and shout as loud as we can while a teacher walks along and feels of our chest to see whether we bring our disphragm properly into play,"

"And who is the teacher?"

"Mr. McGeachy," she artlessly responded.
